Note:
All grants shown in this report are actual payments made in the 1982/1983 fiscal year. Grants approved but not paid during the fiscal year are not included. Readers should exercise caution when making comparisons with earlier annual reports which detailed total award levels rather than payments.

Toutes les subventions figurant dans ce rapport ont été versées au cours de l'année financière 1982-1983. Les subventions approuvées mais qui ne sont pas versées dans l'année financière ne figurent pas dans ce rapport. Les lecteurs devront tenir compte de ce fait lorsqu'ils comparent les subventions contenues dans ce rapport à celles des anciens rapports annuels qui mentionnaient le montant total des subventions et non pas le montant des subventions qui avait été octroyé.

CHAIRMEN'S REPORT

Arthur Gelber

Frankly, it is not easy to leave the Ontario Arts Council. Particularly now. For the past 19 years, the Council has been close to the centre of my life, next to the arts themselves. And what a privilege it has been to be associated with so many talented and dedicated individuals through the Council... all the thousands of artists, administrators and their community supporters... the expert Council staff and advisors... and, of course, my former and present colleagues on Council. All of them inspired me with the quality of their unselfish service, with little public notice or reward.

It's unjust, I know, but I am obliged to single out a few. For instance, the Council chairmen I was honored to serve: the late, J. Keiller MacKay, Anthony Adamson, Frank McEachren, and my successor, Donald McGibbon. I owe thanks, too, to the special leadership qualities of three executive directors, Milton Carman, Lou Applebaum and Walter Pitman. I was favored to find a friend in each of these gentlemen.

And I must mention three senior staff members, Naomi Lightbourn, Ron Evans who both survived my tenure, and Charlotte Holmes, all of whom I had the distinct pleasure of working with almost all the time I was on the Council.

As I write this at the end of the 1982/83 fiscal year, the OAC is marking its 20th anniversary, amid celebration and reflection.

There is much to be celebrated. The more than $100,000,000 invested in the development of the arts by the Government of Ontario through the OAC has, in two decades, produced the most remarkable renaissance of the arts ever witnessed on this continent.

We have unlocked a treasure of creative and performing talent in hundreds of communities across the province. As Premier William Davis noted in his tribute in the Legislature on the anniversary of the passage of the OAC Act: "In terms of access to the arts and opportunities to participate in them, Ontario is second to no other jurisdiction in the world."

Two days later, the Minister of Citizenship and Culture, the Hon. Bruce McCaffrey, announced in the same chamber the setting up of a Special Committee to study the relationship of government and the arts in Ontario. As he explained, it was at least 10 years since the place of the arts in Ontario had been officially examined, and: "Quite simply, culture and the arts have enjoyed a period of unprecedented growth—both in quantity and quality—over the past two decades ... It would be difficult to point to another area of Ontario society that has enjoyed such explosive growth and so continuous a commitment of Government support.

"To maintain in the next decade the accelerating patterns of growth charted in the past two would place demands on this government far exceeding our capacity to fill them..."

It is quite proper for the Ontario Government to "take stock" at this point. But there is a suggestion here that the Government is having second thoughts about its own success and, by implication, that of its responsible agency, the Ontario Arts Council, in building the arts resources of this province.

Well, I say we must go forward. What we have accomplished—what, in fact, the arts have accomplished—in Ontario in just 20 years is extraordinary, unquestionably.

But look how far behind we were when we started. And look how far we have still to go in order to merit designation as a truly developed society.

The effort to establish and sustain the arts infrastructure of this province, solid, stable and productive, must continue. Ontario's citizens of today and of tomorrow deserve nothing less.

I call upon the Government of Ontario for a renewed and strengthened commitment to the arts.

I urge the Government to manifest that commitment through endorsement and enhanced support for the Ontario Arts Council.

I know as well as anyone alive the OAC's wealth of experience, expertise, energy, wisdom and integrity, and I say: given the renewed endorsement it has earned, the Council can accomplish much more yet for the enrichment of life in Ontario.

Arthur Gelber, O.C.
Chairman
(retired November, 1982)

Donald McGibbon

Here you have something unique for an annual report: a "stereophonic" message from two chairmen at the same time!

The explanation is quite simple. Arthur Gelber completed his term as chairman midway through this year and, in November, 1982, I was appointed his successor, to serve in this position until November, 1985.

This report covers the 20th year of OAC operations; for all of those years Arthur Gelber has been a mainstay of the Council. I am confident that when the history of OAC is published in November, 1983, to mark the 20th anniversary of Council's first meeting, the fundamental role Arthur has played in the development of the arts in Ontario through the OAC will be fully acknowledged and applauded. At this point, let me just say that Arthur Gelber is probably the staunchest supporter and advocate of the arts this province has ever seen. His tireless devotion to the work of the OAC has been an inspiration to those associated with him and his record of achievement will stand as a challenge for all who follow him here. We can not replace him and we will sorely miss him.

This publication is properly identified as our annual report, proudly presented as required by our enabling legislation. But I suggest it should really be subtitled, "A Catalogue of the Artistic Wealth of Ontario."

For in the pages that follow, in addition to the list of almost 3,500 grants awarded by the OAC in the 1982/83 fiscal year, you will also find recorded the startling number of talented individuals and companies professionally practising the arts throughout this province. It is not a complete tally of the artists. You will not find the names of some of our most famous artists, for two reasons.

Our performing artists find employment with the performing organizations we support—the theatres, symphonies, dance companies, etc.—and do not receive direct assistance from us. Also, many individual artists—creative and performing—have achieved a degree of public recognition that enables them to pursue their professions without assistance. They do not seek grants and we do not award grants without request.

Similarly, you will not find certain arts enterprises represented in these pages because they operate solely and successfully within the commercial marketplace. Basically, our grants are provided as subsidy to arts organizations operating on a not-for-profit basis to enable them to offer participation in the arts experience to Ontario citizens at generally affordable prices.

But, with these exceptions, I think you will find this report an excellent guide to the arts resources of Ontario.

As you study it, I think the first thing that should strike you is the number of persons and organizations engaged in the production, exhibition, performance and distribution of the arts on a professional basis. It is an impressive number and it makes us the envy of many regions throughout North America.

Secondly, you may be suprised to see how widely our arts resources are spread throughout the province. In these pages you will find some 250 communities which have received OAC assistance. That is 80% of the 312 cities, boroughs, towns and villages recorded in the Ontario Municipal Directory.

Perhaps because Metropolitan Toronto has lately received so much media attention as the "cultural capital" of English-speaking Canada, there may be a perception that all the arts are concentrated there and so are the grants from the Arts Council. But, in 1982/83, of the more than 1,335 OAC grants awarded to events or organizations, more than 975, or almost 75%, went outside of Metro Toronto.

That to me says that the arts are alive and well and living everywhere in Ontario.

In addition to Arthur Gelber, three other members of our 12-person Council (appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council) completed their terms and retired midway through this year.

Lucien Delean of North Bay had been a member for two terms of three years each, since 1976; Harry Boyle of Toronto and Greta Torrie of Kenora each served for one term, since 1979.

Our newly appointed members are Norma H. Clumpus of Sudbury, Barclay Ann Heisey, Susan Rubes and Douglas A. Sloan, all of Toronto.

ALLOCUTION DES PRESIDENTS

Arthur Gelber

Franchement, ce n'est pas facile de quitter le Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario. Surtout à l'heure actuelle. Pendant 19 ans, le Conseil a fait partie intégrante de ma vie après les arts. Et quel privilège cela a été de travailler avec tant de personnes talentueuses et dévouées grâce au Conseil... tous ces milliers d'artistes, d'administrateurs, de bénévoles... le personnel expérimenté du Conseil et les conseillers... et, bien entendu, mes anciens collègues et mes collègues actuels au Conseil. Ils m'ont tous inspiré par la qualité de leur généreux dévouement dans leur travail, qui n'est guère reconnu par le public ni récompensé.

Je sais que c'est injuste, mais je ne peux mentionner que quelques personnes. Par exemple, les présidents du Conseil que j'ai eu l'honneur de servir: Feu J. Keiller Mackay, Anthony Adamson, Frank McEachren et mon successeur Donald McGibbon. Je dois également remercier les trois directeurs exécutifs, Milton Carman, Lou Applebaum et Walter Pitman pour leurs qualités de chef de file. J'ai d'ailleurs eu l'honneur de me lier d'amitié avec toutes ces personnes.

Mais je dois mentionner deux membres des cadres supérieurs, Naomi Lightbourn et Ron Evans qui travaillent toujours pour le Conseil et Charlotte Holmes, avec qui j'ai eu le plaisir très net de travailler presque constamment au cours de mon mandat au Conseil.

En écrivant cette allocution, à la fin de l'année financière 1982-83, le CAO marque son 20e anniversaire, au milieu des célébrations et de la réflexion.

Nous avons beaucoup de raisons de célébrer cet événement. En effet, au cours des deux dernières décennies, le gouvernement de l'Ontario a investi plus de 100 000 000 $ dans le développement des arts par l'entremise du CAO et on a assisté à la renaissance la plus remarquable des arts en Amérique du Nord.

Nous avons découvert une foule de talents créateurs et de talents dans les arts d'interprétation dans des centaines de communautés dans toute la province. M. William Davis, Premier ministre, a déclaré ce qui suit dans son allocution à l'Assemblée législative lors de l'anniversaire qui marque la création du décret du CAO: "Pour ce qui est de l'accès aux arts et des possibilités d'y participer, l'Ontario ne cède en rien à aucune entité administrative au monde."

Deux jours plus tard, l'honorable Bruce McCaffrey, ministre des Affaires civiques et culturelles, a annoncé, devant la même assemblée, la création d'un comité spécial chargé d'étudier les relations entre le gouvernement et les arts en Ontario. Il a expliqué qu'il y a au moins 10 ans qu'on n'a pas officiellement étudié le rôle des arts en Ontario et, "franchement, la culture et les arts ont joui d'un essor sans précédent au cours des deux dernières décennies—tant du point de vue de la quantité que de la qualité... et il serait difficile de souligner un autre secteur de la société en Ontario qui ait joui d'un tel essor et d'un engagement continu du soutien du gouvernement.

"Si l'on voulait maintenir au cours de la prochaine décennie la même croisssance qu'auparavant, notre gouvernement ne pourrait se permettre de satisfaire à ces exigences."

Il est d'ailleurs normal que le gouvernement de l'Ontario étudie en ce moment la situation des arts. Mais il semblerait que le gouvernement ait des doutes quant à son propre succès et, par conséquent, au succès du Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario, qui est l'organisme responsable du développement des ressources artistiques de la province.

Eh bien, il faut aller de l'avant. Ce que nous avons accompli, ou plutôt ce que les arts ont accompli—en Ontario, en moins de vingt ans, est réellement extraordinaire.

Mais regardez comme nous étions en retard à nos tout débuts, et vous constaterez qu'il nous reste encore beaucoup à accomplir pour mériter l'honneur de devenir une société vraiment développée.

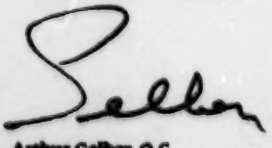
Il faut que l'effort pour établir et soutenir l'infrastructure des arts sur une base solide, stable et productive continue dans notre province. Les citoyens de l'Ontario d'aujourd'hui et de demain méritent cet effort.

Je fais appel au gouvernement de l'Ontario pour renouveler et renforcer son engagement envers les arts.

Je conseille fortement au gouvernement de manifester cet engagement en donnant son approbation et en apportant son soutien continu au Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario.

Je connais comme vous la somme d'expérience, de connaissances, d'énergie, de sagesse et d'intégrité du CAO et je déclare ceci: si le Conseil reçoit l'approbation renouvelée qu'il mérite, il pourra accomplir bien plus pour l'enrichissement de la vie en Ontario.

Président
Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario



Arthur Gelber, O.C.
(a quitté le Conseil en novembre 1982)

Donald McGibbon

Ce rapport annuel possède quelque chose d'unique en son genre: un message en "stéréophonie" de la part de deux présidents!

L'explication est très simple. M. Arthur Gelber vient de terminer son mandat de président en plein milieu de l'année et, en novembre 1982, j'ai pris la successin jusqu'en novembre 1985.

Ce rapport couvre la 20e année des opérations du Conseil de Arts de l'Ontario; pendant toutes ces années, Arthur Gelber a été l'un des principaux soutiens du Conseil. Je suis persuadé que, lorsque l'historique du CAO sera publié en novembre 1983 pour marquer le 20e anniversaire de la première réunion du Conseil, on reconnaîtra et on applaudira pleinement le rôle fondamental qu'a joué M. Gelber pour le développement des arts en Ontario par l'entremise du CAO. Laissez-moi vous dire ici que M. Arthur Gelber est probablement le défenseur des arts le plus dévoué que cette province ait jamais eu. Son dévouement inlassable à sa tâche au CAO a été une source d'inspiration pour toutes les personnes qui ont travaillé avec lui et ses réalisations serviront d'exemple et lanceront un défi à tous ceux qui lui succéderont. Nous ne pouvons malheureusement pas le remplacer et il nous manquera beaucoup.

Cette publication s'intitule le rapport annuel et nous sommes fiers de vous le présenter comme l'exige la loi qui a fondé le Conseil des Arts. Mais je suggère qu'il devrait aussi s'intituler "Le Catalogue des talents artistiques de l'Ontario".

En effet, au cours des pages qui vont suivre, en plus de la liste de plus de 3 500 subventions qui ont été accordées par le CAO au cours de l'exercice financier 1982-83, on trouve également un nombre étonnant d'artistes talentueux et de troupes artistiques professionnelles qui pratiquent leur art dans toute la province. Cela ne représente pas la totalité de nos artistes. Vous n'y trouverez pas les noms de certains de nos artistes les plus célèbres, et cela pour deux raisons.

Nos artistes en arts d'interprétation trouvent du travail avec les organismes en arts d'interprétation qui reçoivent des subventions—les théâtres, les orchestres symphoniques, les troupes de danse, etc.—ils ne reçoivent pas directement de subventions du CAO. Aussi, de nombreux artistes—dans le domaine de la création et des arts d'interprétation—sont reconnus par le public et ils peuvent continuer à exercer leur profession sans aucun soutien financier. Ils ne rechercheront pas de subventions et nous n'en décernons pas sans qu'on nous le demande.

Vous ne trouverez pas non plus certaines troupes artistiques dans ce rapport annuel car elles s'autofinancent et obtiennent beaucoup de succès sur le marché commercial. Fondamentalement, nos subventions sont destinées aux organismes artistiques sans but lucratif pour leur permettre d'offrir une expérience artistique aux citoyens de l'Ontario à des prix assez raisonnables.

Mais, à part ces quelques exceptions, je pense que vous trouverez que ce rapport est un excellent guide des ressources artistiques en Ontario. A mesure que vous le consulterez, je pense que vous serez surpris de contaster le nombre de personnes et d'organismes qui participent à la production, à l'exposition, aux spectacles et à la distribution des arts à titre professionnel.

Ce nombre impressionnant fait pâlir d'envie de nombreuses régions de l'Amérique du Nord.

Deuxièmement, vous serez peut-être également étonné de contaster que nos ressources artistiques s'étendent à toute la province. En feuilletant le rapport, vous trouverez quelque 250 communautés qui ont obtenu des subventions, soit 80% des villes, municipalités et villages qui figurent dans l'annuaire municipal de l'Ontario. Le Toronto métropolitain a tellement obtenu de publicité de la part des médias comme étant la "capitale culturelle" du Canada anglais, qu'on pense peut-être que tous les arts sont concentrés dans cette ville, et qu'il en est de même des subventions du CAO. Mais, en 1982/83, sur les 1 335 subventions que le CAO a accordé à des événements ou à des organismes, plus de 975, soit près de 75%, ont été accordées en dehors du Toronto métropolitain.

Cela signifie, du moins pour moi, que les arts sont bel et bien vivants partout en Ontario.

En plus du départ de M. Arthur Gelber, il y a aussi trois autres membres du Conseil de 12 membres (nommés par le lieutenant-gouverneur en Conseil) qui ont terminé leur mandat et qui ont quitté le Conseil au milieu de l'année.

M. Lucien Delean de North Bay, qui servait depuis 1976 en tant que membre du Conseil, soit deux mandats consécutifs de trois ans chacun; M. Harry Boyle, de Toronto, et Mme Greta Torrie, de Kenora, ont tous deux accompli un mandat de trois ans depuis 1979.

Parmi nos tout récents membres, citons Mme Norma H. Clumpus de Sudbury, Mme Barclay Ann Heisey, Mme Susan Rubes et M. Douglas A. Sloan, tous trois de Toronto.

Président
Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario

Donald W. McGibbon

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

The case for a dynamic artistic development in Ontario could not be more clear. Research tells us that the more education people secure, the more likely they are to shift their attention from spectator sports to cultural activities. That may be why there are more people in the U.S.A. going to symphony concerts than National League football games, more people attending museums than National League basketball games.

We need more statistics for Canada, but the trend, I am convinced, is the same. We have a citizenry which now wants cultural activities. The Louis Harris polling organization in the U.S.A. discovered that more people wanted access to cultural activities than parks and recreation centres, and were prepared to pay higher taxes for the privilege. I suspect there are similar attitudes abroad in this country.

And, there is another demographic reality. We are becoming an older community. The fact is that as we become older our enthusiasms tend in the direction of the arts. So, in an Ontario in which the average age continues to rise, we know that in the '80's and '90's the artistic life of this province will continue to attract increased attention.

But we have found other more esoteric reasons to celebrate the expansion of the arts. One of the most effective ways of balancing our trade deficits is by inviting people from around the world to visit Canada and spend as much money as possible. People are not that anxious just to see mountains, lakes and trees, but want to experience the excitement of knowing something of the people in the country they visit. For that reason, theatre, music, dance, mime, visual expression—all become important in our efforts to attract the interest of the tourist.

As well, we are finding that corporations looking for communities to locate their plant or office want to know what opportunities there will be for employees to engage in the excitement of the arts. A fulfilling artistic life for employees becomes an enticing attraction for business and industrial development.

Far more important, we are realizing that in a troubled world of nuclear deterrent—nearly all of our conflicts are essentially cultural whether it be the Middle East, Ireland or between the superpowers. As well, in a world of highly mobile people of contrasting colour, religious belief, customs, and clothing styles, an understanding of culture through artistic expression by every citizen becomes essential. Even on the home front, we realize now that having a constitution is insufficient to ensure the continued health and well-being of the Canadian nation. Certainly it is our authors, our dramatists, our painters and sculptors who can help us to understand ourselves and each other across this broad and varied nation. But what of the future. Trying to throw light on the years ahead is a difficult business. Obviously we are moving from an industrial to an information society. As many analysts have pointed out, there will be few jobs created in the primary and secondary industries in Ontario. The emphasis will undoubtedly be in the direction of information processing.

But that is precisely what the arts are all about. Certainly the breadth of the information—a recognition of insight, inspiration—as well as "bits" of facts are a part of our need for information. Indeed, the information which surfaces in our novels, in our theatres, concert halls and in our galleries might well be essential to achieving both knowledge and wisdom.

Then, there is the move from an enforced technology society to a "high-tech—high touch" world. In the past few years we have been carried along by an "explosion" of technological development. If there is a technology that can destroy people and things, move people and things, or service people and things, we have considered it irreversible and good. Now the Alvin Tofflers have concerned themselves about the need to make such decisions— indeed, suggesting that future shock is just the unwillingness to be rational about our future. E. F. Schumaker talked of appropriate technology and questioned the sanity of our obsession with bigness, centralization and the depletion of our planet of both energy and non-renewable mineral and forestry resources.

Technology will not create a sanely organized world—there is still the fact of a finite planet, a space-ship earth with limits to growth. Moreover, it is plain that technology will not divide the riches of this earth any more equitably—indeed, it appears to widen the gap of haves and have nots. Certainly in the context of the Canadian economy it means that technology can destroy many jobs, especially those of lesser skilled people, and ironically, jobs now considered the preserve of women (secretaries, bank tellers, file clerks, et al.).

At the same time, technological advance cannot be reversed. Canada must adopt an industrial strategy which identifies certain "commanding heights" for both government and private development—perhaps transportation, communication and environmental technology—and be able to compete in world markets successfully.

Failing to do this will undermine our standard of living, already sinking, compared to other industrial nations by O.E.C.D. standards. And although this will seriously affect our disposable income and change the life-style of most of us, even more important, it will affect the well being of our universities, hospitals and health care systems, our theatres, our symphony orchestras—all those things made possible by the standard of living we have achieved.

Thus, the efforts being made to raise the technological sophistication of our society are essential. However, there is a problem. This highly competitive, highly sophisticated industrial development is not labour intensive. Indeed, the emphasis is in the direction of robotics, the replacement of people. Thus, any intense utilization of modern technology does create unemployment—even though jobs will be created in certain sectors. For that reason, there is a need for a balanced economy—call it high-touch, call it the restrained, labour intensive, more locally organized, smaller in scale, less energy demanding industry committed to appropriate technology which will balance off against the "high-tech" sector of the economy and provide jobs for people. Unless we can encourage this balance we will have a disaster on our hands even if we win the battle for a competitive place in the world economy. We will lose the struggle to create a decent, humane society. There must be a place for more artists living and working in our communities both for the sake of their own mental and spiritual well-being and the rest of us. I say "the rest of us" for the most important preparation for coping with these shifts in values and in life-style is obviously a focus on the arts. The arts themselves represent most effectively the reality of that aspect of society which will balance the force of technology—the high-touch reality.

We know there has been an astonishing increase in employment in the arts. This may be a major source of employment in the high-tech—high-touch future along with services to people and small scale service enterprise in smaller as well as larger communities. Thus serving the needs of people through the arts will be the focus of artistic life in Ontario during the 1980's.

The executive director's report would not be complete without reference to the presence of the most capable, hard-working staff he has ever encountered and the most patient, dedicated Council there could be in the service of any jurisdiction.

Arthur Gelber's experience and wisdom are greatly missed and it is a tribute to the strength of purpose, vitality of commitment and superb leadership of Donald McGibbon that the Ontario Arts Council carries on.

RAPPORT DU DIRECTEUR GÉNÉRAL

Le concept d'un développement artistique dynamique en Ontario est clair comme le jour. Des recherches indiquent que, plus on est instruit, plus on porte son attention sur des activités culturelles plutôt que d'assister à des matches ou autres épreuves sportives. C'est peut-être pourquoi il y a plus de personnes aux Etats-Unis qui assistent à des concerts symphoniques qu'aux matches de football de la Ligue nationale, et plus de personnes qui visitent les musées au lieu d'assister aux matches de basketball de la Ligue nationale.

Pour le Canada, les statistiques nous manquent encore, mais je suis convaincu que la tendance est la même. Nous avons la masse des citoyens qui désormais aspirent à des activités culturelles. Aux Etats-Unis, l'organisme de sondage Louis Harris a découvert qu'il y a bien plus de personnes qui préfèrent avoir accès à des activités culturelles qu'à des centres de loisirs et à des parcs, et qui sont prêts à payer plus d'impôts pour jouir de ce privilège. Je soupçonne qu'il existe des attitudes similaires dans notre pays.

Et puis, il y a une autre réalité, le phénomène démographique. Nous sommes une société en voie de vieillissement. D'ailleurs, plus nous vieillissons, plus notre enthousiasme tend à s'orienter vers les arts. Ainsi, en Ontario, où l'âge moyen continue à augmenter, on sait que la vie artistique de la province ne cessera de prendre de l'essor au cours des années 80 et 90.

Mais nous avons trouvé d'autres raisons plus ésotériques pour célébrer l'essor des arts. Un des moyens les plus efficaces pour contrebalancer le déficit de notre commerce serait d'inviter des personnes du monde entier à venir visiter le Canada et à dépenser le plus d'argent possible. Or, les visiteurs ne sont pas tellement avides de voir uniquement des montagnes, des lacs et des arbres; ils veulent éprouver le plaisir de mieux connaître le peuple du pays qu'ils visitent. C'est pour cette raison que le théâtre, la musique, la danse, le mime et l'expression visuelle—Tout cela joue un rôle important pour susciter l'intérêt des touristes.

Nous avons également remarqué que les compagnies qui recherchent une communauté pour installer leur usine ou leurs bureaux veulent connaître les possibilités offertes à leurs employés pour participer à des activités artistiques. Pour les employés, une vie artistique enrichissante offre un attrait très grand pour le développement des affaires et l'aménagement industriel.

Mais surtout, on se rend compte, dans un monde bouleversé par la menace d'une guerre nucléaire—que presque tous nos conflits sont essentiellement culturels que ce soit au Moyen-Orient, en Irlande ou entre les grandes puissances. De plus dans un monde où les êtres humains de race différente se déplacent facilement, avec leurs diverses croyances religieuses, leurs coutumes et leurs modes, la compréhension de la culture par l'expression artistique de tous les citoyens s'impose. Au Canada, nous savons désormais que d'avoir une constitution ne suffit pas pour assurer la santé et le bien-être continus de notre nation. Ce sont, bien entendu, nos écrivains, nos dramaturges, nos peintres et nos sculpteur qui peuvent nous aider à nous comprendre d'un bout à l'autre de notre pays si vaste et si varié.

Mais que nous réserve l'avenir? Il est vrai que c'est une tâche difficile de prévoir les années à venir. Il est évident que nous passons d'une société industrielle à une société d'information. Comme de nombreux analystes l'ont démontré, peu d'emplois seront créés dans les industries primaires et secondaires en Ontario. On donnera sans doute de plus en plus de poids à l'informatique.

Mais c'est précisément ce que signifient les arts. Il est certain que notre besoin d'être informés englobe tout le champ de l'information—la reconnaissance d'une intuition, d'une inspiration—En fait, les informations que nous retrouvons dans nos romans, nos théâtres, nos salles de concerts et nos galeries d'art sont probablement essentielles pour acquérir des connaissances et une certaine sagesse.

Et puis, il y a le mouvement d'une société de technologie forcée vers une société de haute technologie. Au cours des dernières années, nous avons assisté à une "explosion" du développement dans le domaine de la technologie. S'il y a une technologie qui peut détruire les êtres et les choses, les déplacer ou les servir, nous la considérons comme étant irréversible et bonne. Or, Alvin Toffler et son école se sont souciés de la nécessité de prendre de telles décisions, de suggérer, en fait, que le choc du futur n'est qu'un refus d'être rationnel envers l'avenir. E.F. Schumaker nous a parlé de la technologie appropriée et met en doute la santé d'esprit de notre obsession de grandeur, de la centralisation et de l'épuisement de notre planète et matière d'énergie, de minéraux non renouvelables et de ressources forestières.

La technologie ne créera pas un monde organisé de façon sensée—il y a toujours le fait que notre planète a ses limites, qu'elle est un vaisseau spatial dont les possibilités de croissance sont restreintes. De plus, il est parfaitement clair que la technologie ne divisera pas de façon équitable les richesses de cette planète—d'ailleurs, le fossé s'élargit entre les riches et les pauvres. Dans le contexte de l'économie canadienne, il est certain que cela signifie que la technologie peut supprimer de nombreux emplois, surtout pour les personnes qui ne sont pas tellement qualifiées et, par l'ironie du sort, les emplois aujourd'hui, réservés surtout aux femmes (secrétaires, employées de banque, préposées au classement, etc.).

En même temps, l'essor de la technologie ne peut pas faire marche arrière. Le Canada doit adopter une stratégie industrielle qui identifie une certaine hauteur quant au développement gouvernemental et privé—peut-être dans le domaine de la technologie des transports, des communications et de l'environnement—pour pouvoir soutenir la concurrence sur les marchés mondiaux.

Si l'on n'adopte pas cette stratégie, on sapera les fondements de notre niveau de vie, qui a déjà diminué par rapport aux autres nations industrielles selon les normes de l'O.C.D.E. Cela affectera sérieusement notre revenu disponible et changera notre mode de vie pour la plupart d'entre nous. Mais, ce qui est encore bien plus important, c'est le bien-être de nos universités, de notre système de soins de santé et d'hôpitaux, de nos théâtres et de nos orchestres symphoniques qui sera le plus touché—toutes ces choses que notre niveau de vie nous a permis de réaliser.

Ainsi, les efforts que l'on accomplit pour créer une technologie sophistiquée pour notre société jouent un rôle primordial. Mais il y a malgré tout un problème. Ce développement industriel hautement sophistiqué et compétitif n'exige pas beaucoup de main-d'oeuvre. En fait, on tend plutôt à la robotique, qui va remplacer la main-d'oeuvre. Mais toute utilisation intense d'une technologie moderne entraîne la création d'emplois—même si ces emplois ne sont créés que dans certains secteurs.

C'est pour cette raison qu'il faut que l'économie soit équilibrée—que l'on parle de haute technologie, de main-d'oeuvre restreinte ou nombreuse, d'une économie plus organisée à l'échelle locale, de plus petite envergure, d'une diminution de la demande d'énergie par l'industrie engagée à adopter une technologie appropriée qui contrebalancera le secteur de la haute technologie et qui créera des emplois. Si nous n'encourageons pas cet équilibre, nous devrons faire face à un désastre, même si nous gagnons la bataille pour nous tailler une place concurrentielle au sein de l'économie mondiale. Nous perdrons la partie dans la lutte pour créer une société humaine décente. Il faut donner la place à un plus grand nombre d'artistes qui vivent et qui oeuvrent dans nos communautés dans l'intérêt de leur bien-être moral et spirituel et de celui de nous tous. Je dis bien "de nous tous", car la préparation la plus importante pour faire face à ces changements de valeurs et de mode de vie, est assurée par les arts. Les arts incarnent d'une façon frappante la réalité de cet aspect de la société qui équilibrera la force de la technologie—la réalité de la haute technologie. Nous savons que nous avons connu un essor prodigieux dans la création d'emplois dans le domaine des arts. C'est peut-être une source primordiale d'emplois dans l'avenir de la haute technologie—avec les services aux personnes et aux petites entreprises de service, dans les communautés petites et grandes. Et c'est ainsi que l'on satisfera aux exigences des citoyens de l'Ontario grâce à l'épanouissement des arts au cours des années 80.

Le rapport du directeur exécutif ne serait pas complet s'il ne mentionnait pas la présence du personnel le plus dévoué et le plus zélé qu'il ait jamais connu, ainsi que le Conseil le plus patient et le plus dévoué qui soit au service de n'importe quel service administratif.

L'expérience et la sagesse de M. Arthur Gelber nous manqueront beaucoup et c'est grâce à la force de caractère, à la vitalité de l'engagement et aux superbes qualités de chef de M. Donald McGibbon que le Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario pourra continuer sa tâche.

ARTS/EDUCATION

Increasingly, the arts are being recognized as an essential component in the lives of children.

The Ontario Arts Council's Arts/Education Office provides assistance to school touring companies in theatre, music and dance, and brings professional creative artists of all disciplines into direct contact with students in a classroom situation.

These programs contribute to the artistic enrichment of Ontario's young people by helping them explore and develop their own creativity.

Officer: Irene Turrin

Les arts ont pris un essor considérable dans la vie des enfants.

Le Bureau des Arts/Education du Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario offre des subventions aux troupes qui font des tournées dans les écoles dans les domaines du théâtre, de la musique et de la danse. Il permet aussi aux artistes créateurs professionnels de toutes les disciplines artistiques d'être en relation directe avec les élèves dans un cadre scolaire.

Ces programmes contribuent à l'épanouissement artistique des jeunes en Ontario tout en leur permettant d'explorer et de développer leur propre créativité.

COMMUNITY ARTS DEVELOPMENT

From Kenora to Cornwall, community arts development in the province is alive and growing.

In co-operation with the Ministry of Citzenship and Culture, the Community Arts Development Office offers support to regional and local arts councils, arts organizations, festivals and groups wishing to promote arts activities in addition to providing grants for craftsmen and native development in the arts.

With such financial assistance and the help of thousands of dedicated volunteers throughout the province, Ontario's cultural life abounds.

DANCE

Classical and contemporary styles are reflected among the creative individuals and organizations within Ontario's dance community.

Professional dancers, non-profit dance companies and dance service organizations have shared in the support provided by the Ontario Arts Council's Dance Office towards the development of new choreography, operations, touring and festivals.

As the demand for dance continues to grow in the province, Ontario citizens will benefit from performance opportunities as a spin-off from OAC's support to the dance community.

FILM, PHOTOGRAPHY AND VIDEO

Individuals who use film, video or still photography as their medium of expression contribute much to the artistic environment in which we live.

Many of these artists are assisted in their work by Ontario Arts Council film and video production grants. In addition, OAC provides project and exhibition grants to photographers and support to screenwriters. Non-profit organizations, festivals, seminars or professional development programs serving the needs of artists working in these disciplines also receive OAC assistance.

Public support of these artforms has been growing, giving Ontario citizens greater opportunity to see and share the talents of these creative people.

FRANCO-ONTARIEN

La communauté artistique ontaroise reflète sans complaisance, avec force et conviction, l'authenticité de la culture française des gens d'ici.

Le Bureau franco-ontarien du Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario, offre un éventail de programmes de subvention, adaptés aux besoins spécifiques des artistes, compagnies et organismes ontarois.

Le Conseil offre des subventions aux théâtres, centres culturels, festivals et galeries d'art, de même qu'aux artistes en arts plastiques, chansonniers, dramaturges, écrivains et cinéastes.

Les ontarois et ontaroises de toute la province ont ainsi accès à cette culture qui leur est propre, et qui est aujourd'hui en plein effervescence.

LITERATURE

In seeking our own identity, many Canadians are turning to the work of this country's creative writers.

The Ontario Arts Council's Literature Office assists many Ontario-based writers, poets, publishers, periodicals and literary organizations with grants towards the creation, publication, or distribution of Canadian literature.

Such grants enrich the lives of Ontario citizens by providing increased access to Canadian literary works.

Officer: Steve Stevanovic

MUSIC

With two thirds of all orchestral activity in Canada located in Ontario, with the growth of music festivals, and of series devoted to particular composers or repertoire, music continues to have a major impact on the cultural life of the province.

Orchestras, ensembles, opera companies, festivals, choirs and composers have been assisted through Ontario Arts Council music grant programs towards operations, projects, hiring of professionals and creation of new work. The OAC also makes a significant contribution toward the training of professional musicians.

Ontarians have benefitted from these grant programs by greater access to concerts, operas, professional soloists for community choirs and development of new work by Canadian composers.

ONTOUR

Volunteer touring sponsors are the backbone of cultural development in the province.

The Ontario Arts Council's Ontour Office assists these community sponsors through grant programs which enable them to engage professional performances. In addition, touring consultants provide counsel and advice in establishing and maintaining touring programs.

Ontario audiences have been the beneficiaries of OAC assisted performances featuring more than 3,000 performers in close to 140 communities.

Officer: Nan Whitlaw

Les organismes de parrainage bénévoles sont la force de l'efflorescence culturelle de la province.

Le bureau Ontour du Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario aide les organismes de parrainage communautaires grâce à des programmes de subventions qui leur permettent d'engager des artistes de calibre professionnel. De plus, les conseillers des tournées donnent des conseils et des consultations aux parrains pour qu'ils puissent établir et maintenir des programmes de tournées.

Les auditoires de l'Ontario ont pu profiter des spectacles grâce aux subventions du Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario. Ces spectacles ont regroupé plus de 3 000 artistes dans près de 140 communautés.

THEATRE

With the extraordinary development in regional theatre, and Toronto's recognition as the centre of theatre production in Canada, theatre continues to play a leadership role in the cultural growth of the province.

That growth has been assisted by the Ontario Arts Council's Theatre Office through programs towards operations, projects and new play development.

Whether it's a winter season or a summer festival, Ontario citizens continue to have opportunities to experience the work of Ontario theatre companies and playwrights.

VISUAL ARTS

The work of Ontario's visual artists continues to be more widely recognized throughout the province and beyond.

To provide assistance and support with further development in the visual arts, the Ontario Arts Council provides grants for creation, exhibition, programming, training and criticism.

Such assistance to the visual arts contributes to the cultural enrichment of the province and its people.

Officer: Nancy Hushion

ARTS PLASTIQUES

Le travail des artistes en arts plastiques de l'Ontario est en plein essor et ne cesse d'être reconnu tant dans la province qu'à l'extérieur.

Le Conseil des Arts de l'Ontario offre des subventions pour la création, les expositions, la programmation, la formation et le criticisme pour permettre aux artistes de se perfectionner davantage.

Ces diverses formes d'aide dans les arts plastiques ne font que contribuer à l'efflorescence culturelle de la province et de ses habitants.

Le responsable: Nancy Hushion

AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Province of Ontario Council for the Arts and to the Minister of Citizenship and Culture.

I have examined the balance sheet of the Province of Ontario Council for the Arts as at March 31, 1983 and the statement of income, expenditure and retained income for the year then ended. My examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests and other procedures as I considered necessary in the circumstances.

In my opinion, these financial statements present fairly the financial position of the Council as at March 31, 1983 and the results of its operations for the year then ended in accordance with the basis of accounting described in note 1 to the financial statements, applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

In accordance with section 11 of the Arts Council Act, a report on the audit has been made to the Council and to the Minister.

D. F. Archer, F.C.A.
Provincial Auditor.
Toronto, Ontario,
July 8, 1983.
